PROVINCIAL NOMINEE PROGRAM (PNP)

The New Brunswick Provincial Nominee Program (NBNP), administered by the Government of New Brunswick (GNB), is an immigration program that allows GNB to nominate individuals with the greatest ability to become economically established in New Brunswick. The New Brunswick Private Career College Graduate Pilot (hereafter referred to as “Pilot”) is part of an economic immigration program and is not intended for family reunification, protected persons or for humanitarian and compassionate reasons.

The Pilot is for international graduates with the skills, education, and work experience to contribute to New Brunswick’s economy, and who are ready to live and work in New Brunswick permanently. This guide provides complete and comprehensive information about program requirements and eligibility. Please carefully read it before you apply. Students who do not qualify for the Pilot are encouraged to review the Atlantic Immigration Program (AIP). Students with qualifying work experience and a job offer from an AIP designated employer may be eligible to apply when they complete their studies.

The college has advised the student that it is the responsibility of the Province of New Brunswick and the Department of Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) to decide who is accepted into the Provincial Nominee Program.
